The JEB Advantage

JEB Invisiwall™ Canopy Systems help illuminate entrances to buildings while providing protection from nature's elements. Traditional canopies can create shadows below, while glass canopies create a greater sense of open space.

The JEB Advantage provides you with the single-source responsibility of a fully-engineered system, complete with hardware, glass and shop drawings, delivered to your shop or jobsite for installation. With over 88 years of glass fabrication experience, trust JEB to engineer and fabricate your next point-supported canopy project.

Canopy Glass

A full selection of clear, low-iron, acid etched and tinted glass substrates are available to be heat treated and laminated for your application. Laminated glass is available with PVB interlayer or DuPont™ SentryGlas® Plus (SGP) structural interlayer. SGP interlayer offers the unparalleled advantages of improved clarity, increased structural integrity and better edge stability over that of PVB. A five-year warranty on edge stability for DuPont™ SGP Interlayer is available on a project basis. A translucent white PVB interlayer or ceramic frit silk-screened pattern can be used to reduce both glare and the appearance of dirt on the canopy surface. Heat soaking is also available to help minimize spontaneous breakage due to nickel sulfide inclusions.

Canopy Hardware & Engineering

An extensive variety of rotules, spider fittings and tension rod hardware are available based upon the canopy application. JEB Invisiwall™ Point-Supported Canopies can be engineered to integrate JEB All Glass Doors seamlessly with the canopy.
