

Rum Flights and Passport

A pirate's life for me! Well, maybe on some level, but a pirate's life was far from refined; even when it came to rum. In fact their daily ration of rum was often mixed with their ration of water to kill bacteria and add "flavor". Fortunately, the world of rum has come a long way in the last 400 years, and we've put together a way for you to experience all of it while getting your hands on some pirate booty in the process. Just sample through the flights below and we will issue you your passport to start your journey through the world of rum. It'll be a voyage you'll never forget.

Light Rum 13<sup>xx</sup>

Also known as white or silver rum, light rums are delicate in flavor, though not necessarily lacking in complexity. Aged white rums can have color removed through filtering, and are great for making mixed drinks like the mojito.

Bacardi Superior, Puerto Rico

Crusoe Organic, California

Plantation Three Star, Jamaica, Barbados, & Trinidad

Gold Rum 16<sup>xx</sup>

Gold and Amber Rums get their color from the oak they're aged in; frequently, but not exclusively, from American Bourbon barrels. In general, they're more complex and heavier than their white counterparts.

Mount Gay Eclipse Amber, Barbados

Pyrat Gold XO Reserve, Anguilla

Appleton Special Gold, Jamaica

Spiced Rum 13<sup>xx</sup>

Finer examples are usually made from gold rum through the addition of a selection of spices. The intent is to add flavor and complexity. The spices used could be anything from cinnamon and vanilla, to stronger flavors like anise and pepper.

Kraken Spiced, Trinidad & Tobago

Blackheart Spiced, Caribbean Blend

Pink Pigeon, Mauritius

Dark Rum 15<sup>xx</sup>

In the Caribbean, Jamaica, Haiti, and Martinique are known for producing volumes of this heavier style of rum, though the Central American Country of Guatemala and Nicaragua tout the most well respected. Deeper and darker, these rums lend themselves well to cocktails in need of added weight and flavor, but represent the first tier of the great sipping rums

Mount Gay Black Barrel, Barbados

Myers's Original Dark, Jamaica

Flor de Cana Grand Reserva 7, Nicaragua

Aged & Vintage Rum 19<sup>xx</sup>

Not unlike a fine whiskey or cognac, modern rum has reached a level of craftsmanship that rivals the historically coveted masterpieces sought after by the world's aristocratic elite. Pirates of yesteryear certainly never had it so good, but today's distillers are challenging the status quo, and producing artisan rums that even a simple ice cube would bastardize.

Ron Del Barralito 8 Year, Puerto Rico

English Harbour 5 Year, Antigua & Barbuda

Ron Zacapa Centenario Sistema Solera 23 Year, Guatemala

Each flight contains a Tot (2.5 oz.) of rum, which was once the standard ration for each sailor in the British Royal Navy.

Rum Club

As they say, membership has its privileges, and membership in our Rum Club is no exception. If the sweet and spicy drink wasn't reward enough, there's also booty to be had along your journey. After all, you deserve something for stamping your passport over 100 times. So finish those Rum Flights and your first treasure is that precious passport. At 20 rums, the Captain treats you to a meal sure to pillage the hunger of even the most famished buccaneer: one free appetizer, entree, and dessert. At 50 stamps it be pirate garb we offer: your very own, official Rum Club Member embroidered shirt. Manage to keep your sea legs after 80 rums and a goblet fit for a Captain be ye reward: an engraved copper mug. Finally, best the Captain's record by hoisting every rum in the ship and he'll put you and your crew up for a feast to remember: that's dinner of one appetizer, entree, and dessert for 10 at the Captain's table!

So drink up me hearties, Yo Ho!

Despite its long and sordid past, rum is an undeniable part of world history, and an important part of our American history. Born of a once discarded byproduct of the sugar industry, rum is, at its birth, an accident. A mistake? Perhaps on some level.

But we make mistakes every day, and few are as enjoyable as a fine rum.

Be they savory characters, or a malicious bunch of vagabonds, we at Mutiny think the Pirates of old got at least one thing right. So hoist your flag, tilt a goblet, and stuff your face with mutton, because

THERE'S A LITTLE PIRATE IN ALL OF US!

Following the lead of their pirate foes, the British Royal Navy swapped their daily beer rations for a daily ration of a half-pint of 160 proof (80%) alcohol in 1740. The rum was usually mixed with the daily lime ration (nicknamed "limeys") the sailors had to wash down to fight scurvy.

The average man will bristle if you say his father was dishonest, but he will brag a little if he discovers that his great-grandfather was a pirate.

Rum makes a fine hot drink, a fine cold drink, and is not so bad from the neck of the bottle.

-Fortune Magazine 1937

In an attempt to bring you the most sought after and hard to find rums, we've compiled a list that is, unfortunately, subject to availability. If we are out of any rum on the list, you can assume members of the crew are currently out looting and pillaging and will bring it back for you soon.
